WAYPORT SELECTS GCI GROUP FOR PUBLIC RELATIONS SERVICES

DALLAS (July 7, 2003) –Wayport, Inc., the leading provider of high-speed Internet access in more than 565 hotels and 12 airports nationwide, has selected GCI Group as its new public relations agency of record. GCI's track record with leading technology companies like Dell as well as the agency's wireless experience contributed to the decision.

"We are excited to begin a relationship with GCI Group," said Dan Lowden, vice president of marketing for Wayport. "We were impressed with their creativity, passion for our business and public relations expertise and feel GCI will be an ideal communications partner to help take Wayport to the next level."

GCI will provide a comprehensive public relations program to communicate Wayport's leadership in the Wi-Fi industry and promote Wayport's services to mobile professionals and to location partners, such as hotels, airports and retail locations. The account will be serviced out of the GCI Read-Poland offices in Dallas and Austin.

"We are thrilled to be working with Wayport," said Don Bartholomew, managing director of the technology practice of GCI Americas. "They are strongly positioned in the very hot and interesting Wi-Fi segment. Their footprint in the industry with leading hotels and airports makes them the preferred service provider for mobile professionals. GCI is proud to partner with Wayport and add them to our other impressive wireless portfolio clients including Sony-Ericsson, GlenAyre and Cingular."
